Henry J. Abrams, MD
Medical Staff of the Long Island Jewish Medical Center / Northwell Health
Assistant Clinical Professor, Hofstra University Northwell School of Medicine

The Medical Record is the ultimate defense in a malpractice action. Appropriate and timely documentation, as well as good physician-patient relationship will mitigate adverse outcomes. Professionals attending this presentation will:

1. learn history, importance and purpose of the medical record
2. learn how legal defense use medical record in a medical malpractice action
3. discuss how good record keeping is vital to patient outcomes, quality assurance, claims processing

11:45 – 12:45 Key Leadership Qualities for Risk Managers and Patient Safety Leaders

Margaret R. Garrett, BSN, MED, JD, CPHRM, DFASHRM
President-elect, American Society for Health Care Risk Management (ASHRM)

The need for Healthcare leadership positions is projected to grow over 30 percent in the next ten years. Risk Managers need the ability to assist in leading the organization by facilitating and influencing decision makers, demonstrating interpersonal and organizational communication and continually show value to the organization when supporting and developing strategic goals. Professionals attending this presentation will:

1. be able to list three characteristics of a successful leader
2. be able to describe two leadership theories
3. Research has shown that there are a number of competencies required to be a successful leader. Attendees will be able to discuss three of these competencies.

12:15 – 12:30 Final Q&A and Wrap Up
