Marco is the Senior Vice President of the Healthcare Malpractice Claims Department. He possesses 25 years of litigation and claims management experience.

Marco has been with AIG since February 1997 and oversees all Healthcare Malpractice Claims for AIG in the United States, with claims offices located in Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Jersey City, and San Francisco.

Prior to joining AIG, Marco practiced law in the New York City area for 7 years, defending bodily injury claims in the general liability, medical malpractice, maritime, aviation, complex tort, and product liability areas.

Marco is a graduate of St. John's University School of Business (B.S. Management '87) and St. John's University School of Law (J.D. '90). Marco is admitted to the New York and New Jersey State and Federal Bars.