William (Bill) Fellner

As Assistant Vice President, Business Development, Bill is responsible for maintaining existing client relationships while developing new relationships with prospective clients through his management oversight of integrated sales, marketing and customer service operations. Bill works closely with various departments within MLMIC to create long term value for the organization, its customers, markets and relationships, and also works closely and collaborates with the Medical Society State of New York.

Bill has extensive experience in the field of Professional Medical Liability, holding a variety of positions in Claims and Business Development. He was previously with Healthcare Underwriters Mutual Insurance Company from July 1992, until the time of its merger with Medical Liability Mutual Insurance Company in July 2001.

Timothy Krieg, Esq.

Timothy Krieg, Esq., is Chief Operating Officer and Executive Vice President of MLMIC Insurance Company, where he works closely with the CEO in managing all Company objectives, initiatives, and processes. Prior to his appointment as COO in May 2021, Tim served as SVP and Chief Claims Officer, where he oversaw the Claims Operations for MLMIC Services, managing all claims litigation in New York State. Tim has been with MLMIC for 30 years.

In this new role as COO, Tim will manage and guide MLMIC's overall direction to ensure the company continues to develop and deliver industry leading solutions that build on MLMIC's leadership role in the evolving New York State medical professional liability market.

Tim received a Bachelor's of Business Administration from Hofstra University in 1988, and received his Juris Doctor from New York Law School in 2014. He also has CPCU Designation and is a Member of the New York City and New York State Bar Associations. Tim is married, has two sons and a yellow lab, and resides on Long Island, NY.

Jeffrey C. Gerson, Esq.

Jeffrey C. Gerson, Esq., is currently Vice President of Claims for New York with The MedPro Group. In this role, Jeffrey's responsibilities include overseeing all medical malpractice litigation in New York, managing claims staff, determining reserves and settlement authority and whether cases should be taken to trial. Jeffrey is also the Vice President in charge of overseeing and coordinating MedPro's national Covid-19 litigation. He has been a licensed attorney in New York and Connecticut since 1991.

Prior to joining MedPro, Jeffrey was a Partner for many years with the malpractice defense firm of Kaufman Borgeest & Ryan, LLP, where he was a trial attorney and Supervising Partner for the Long Island office. Jeffrey tried cases for nearly 27 years and successfully defended through verdict many physicians, podiatrists, dentists, hospitals and other health care providers in numerous jurisdictions throughout New York State. Jeffrey also represented health care professionals in licensing and administrative proceedings in New York and Connecticut. Jeffrey has lectured and published extensively on various topics in medical malpractice and health law.

Nancy E. May-Skinner, Esq.

Nancy E. May-Skinner is the managing attorney for the Capital District and Syracuse offices of Fager Amsler Keller & Schoppmann, LLP. She is also lead appellate counsel for the firm. In this capacity, she prepares and argues cases on appeal, performs appellate reviews of medical malpractice verdicts, and analyzes the legal issues that arise in healthcare litigation. Ms. May-Skinner regularly counsels healthcare practitioners and facilities on risk management and health law issues. She has authored numerous articles published in the New York State Bar Association Health Law Journal, and MLMIC Insurance Company's The Scope Medical and The Scope Dental on medical malpractice topics, appellate practice, and risk management.

Ms. May-Skinner also regularly lectures throughout the state for the New York State Bar Association, the Medical Society of the State of New York, HANYS, MLMIC, and various medical organizations and risk management groups in the areas of medical malpractice and risk management. She presents a legislative and case law update on healthcare litigation and liability-related issues at MLMIC and HANYS annual Healthcare Law Update. She has authored and presented continuing medical education programs addressing social media in healthcare and various risk management issues.

Since her admission to practice in the New York state and federal courts in 1990, Ms. May-Skinner has represented defendants in professional malpractice, negligence, and insurance litigation. She has litigated cases in the trial courts and has argued appeals in each of the four departments of the appellate division, the New York Court of Appeals, and the Second Circuit of the U.S. Court of Appeals. Ms. May-Skinner is a member of the New York State Bar Association. She is the Advocacy Team Chair for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, Upstate New York Chapter. Ms. May-Skinner is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst (Bachelor of Arts, political science, cum laude, 1985) and Albany Law School of Union University (Juris Doctor, cum laude, 1989).